

BONES AND FOSSILS

KENYA

sediment

organs

fossil bones

paleontologists

calcium

- 1 The human skeleton is made up of _____ .
- 2 Bones protect important _____ like the brain.
- 3 _____ helps keep bones strong.
- 4 Kenya has one of the largest _____ collections in the world.
- 5 Scientists who study fossils are called _____ .
- 6 Fossils are often found in layers of _____ .

Fossils are important because/but/so....

BONES AND FOSSILS

KENYA

SCIENCE NOTEBOOKING ACTIVITIES

- 1 Draw a simple diagram showing how a fossil forms over time. Use arrows to show layers of sediment.
- 2 Choose either Simbakubwa or Girafatitan. Draw a picture and then write a few sentences describing what it looked like and how it lived.
- 3 Draw and label at least five major bones in the human body. Write a few sentences explaining why bones are important.

Choose one of the notebooking activities to complete.